LONG TRAIL SCHOOL WELCOMES NEW STAFF

Dorset---Head of School John H. Suitor III announces that Long Trail School added three new team members this fall.

Helen Telfer, Business Manager, started on July 21. Helen comes to Long Trail from Small Planet, a creative design and advertising firm in Rutland, where she ran the business operations and dabbled in design. Helen and her husband Michael are residents of Tinmouth. They have two children, Mackenzie and Brooke, who attend Christ the King School in Rutland. Anharad Edson joined the Arts Department. Anharad was an itinerant art teacher for the last two years for the Tinmouth School, Middletown Springs Elementary School, and Wells Village School. She lives in Manchester Center with her husband Chip. They have three children: Aubrey (senior at UVM), Chelsea (sophomore at Colby Sawyer College), and Ethan (junior at BBA). Anharad and Chip own the Flying Cow Sign Company in Manchester. Michele Farkas returned to Long Trail School in her third stint as a math teacher and her 16th year in teaching. This past year she taught at Bromley Brook School where she developed some innovative math curricula.

Long Trail School is excited to welcome these accomplished professionals.
